

TOURISM • EDUCATION • RESEARCH • CONSERVATION

Kuzikus is a private wildlife reserve in the Kalahari region of Namibia.

We strive to conserve aspects of ecological integrity in the Kalahari ecosystem in cooperation with the Namibian Nature Conservation Authorities.

For the past 30 years we have combined tourism, education and research directly with nature conservation projects.

By visiting Kuzikus you support our projects. You will have the opportunity to individually experience and explore the Kalahari, gaining a better understanding of conservation in the region.

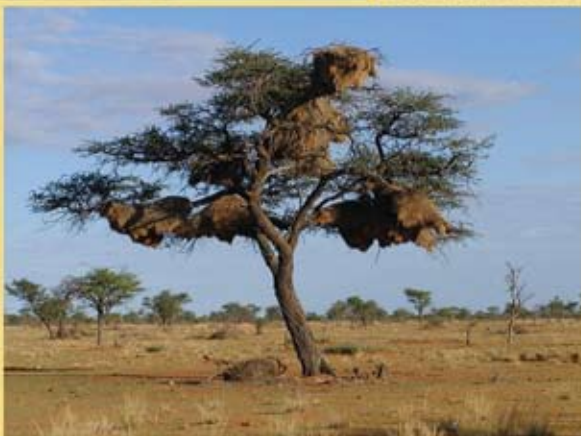

Wildlife Reserve

More than 3 000 wild animals are living on a 10 500 ha conservation area.

You can observe different species of antelopes, black rhinos, warthogs, plains zebras, giraffes, ostriches, smaller types of predators as well as numerous birds (more than 120 species) in their natural habitat.

It is an unique experience to move freely in the wide open spaces among the herds of animals even outside the vehicle, on foot or on horseback.

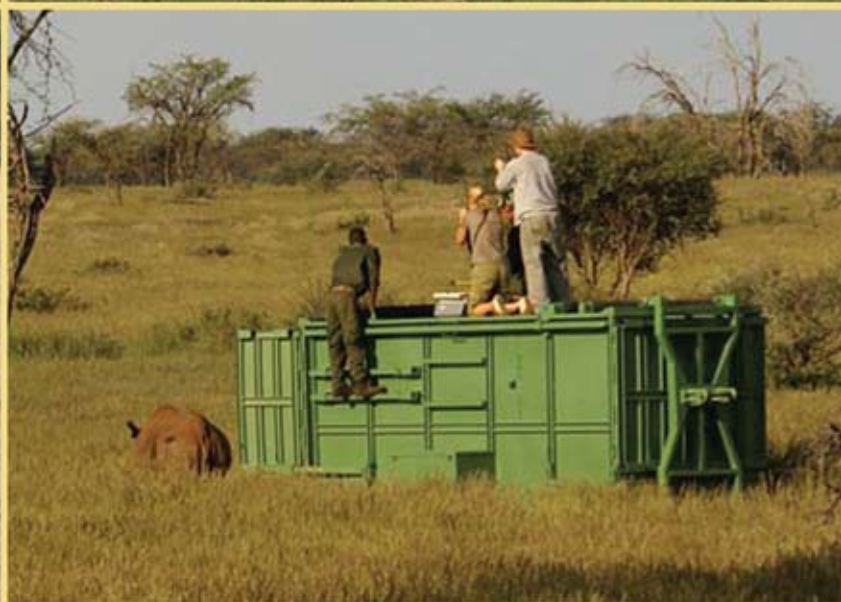

The Black Rhino Project

The population of the Black Rhino has decreased over the past 100 years from several 100 000 rhino to a mere 3 000 as of today.

For over 15 years Kuzikus is supporting the national 'Black Rhino Custodian Project' for the conservation of this 'mega herbivore' which has become so critically endangered.

At Kuzikus you have the opportunity to see these rare animals in the open savannah and you will be able to learn more about the conservation project.

BRinK - Biological Research at Kuzikus

BRinK is a program for students and nature enthusiasts, who want to deepen their knowledge of nature.

Within the scope of professionally conducted research projects in co-operation with biologists you will be able to research, analyse and document various ecological interactions.

The results of the research projects support the Kuzikus management in running the reserve on a sustainable basis.

Guest Lodge

Kuzikus offers full board accommodation. We have five rooms, all with en-suite bathrooms. The rooms are tastefully furnished and in an african style.

The menu offers a great variety of food from regional products.

Leisure time and relaxation is rated high. The swimming pool and lush garden offer a tranquil area to sunbathe, read or simply cool down after a fulfilling day in the wilderness.

Kuzikus has been awarded with the maximum of 3 stars from the Namibian Hotel Authorities.

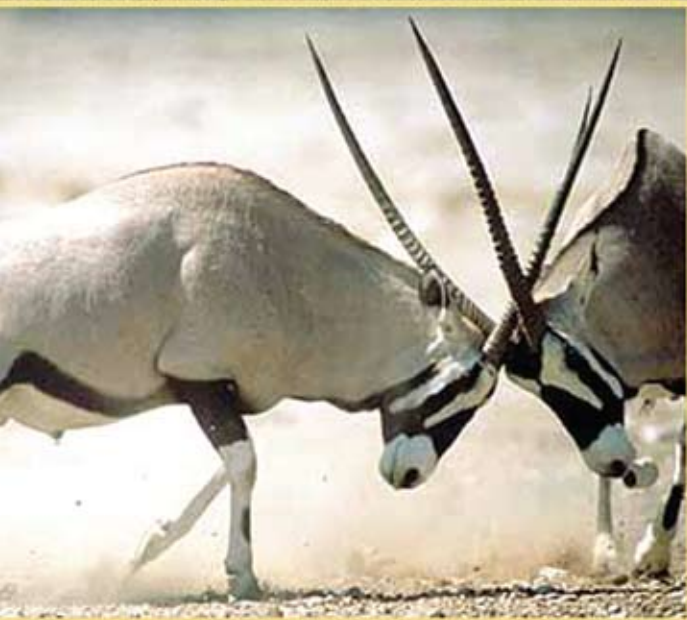

As a family run business we place emphasis on individual service and a private atmosphere.
